Lap Band Process

After gaining approval from the Food and Drug Administration in 2001, the Lap Band Surgical Procedure has taken off in popularity.

The procedure had been widely used in Europe and Australia prior to coming to the States nearly a decade ago.

The Lap Band Surgical Procedure begins with a consultation with a lap band specialist. The patient and surgeon will discuss the traditional weight loss program the individual had been on, why it may not have worked and what the Lap Band Surgical Procedure will involve.
